Dear alumni, friends, and family,

We’re excited to introduce the first installment of a newsletter series Anatomy of Impact: Advancing Medical Education. It is our hope that this monthly communication will serve as a link to the medical education offered today at the UNC School of Medicine as well as a source of inspiration and information. Each month you can look forward to receiving stories that connect you to the campus and classroom—stories about achieving students, inspiring faculty and staff, curriculum and research advancements and more.

We hope you enjoy, and we look forward to keeping you well-informed as part of the UNC family.

Sincerely,

Wesley Burks, MD
CEO UNC Health Care / Dean UNC School of Medicine

THE START OF AN EXTRAORDINARY JOURNEY

Earlier this month, the UNC School of Medicine held its annual White Coat Ceremony to welcome and recognize the Class of 2023. The ceremony is both a tradition and an opportunity for students, along with their families and friends, to celebrate their accomplishments and look forward to all that lies ahead.

When students are presented with their first white coat, they are officially inducted into their future careers as physicians. It’s their moment to define themselves as physicians, community members and people. A white coat serves as a symbol of the medical journey. Wherever that journey leads our students, they will always be a part of the UNC family.

Best wishes and congratulations to the Class of 2023!

OUR VISION AND MISSION

The UNC School of Medicine endeavors to be the nation’s finest public school of medicine. We will prepare tomorrow’s health care professionals and biomedical researchers by facilitating learning within innovative and integrated curricula and team oriented interprofessional education. We strive to promote faculty, staff and learner development in a diverse, respectful environment where our colleagues demonstrate professionalism, enhance learning, and create personal and professional sustainability.
